

AFTER SALES AND SERVICE

SERVICES

GPE LLC understands the need to not only supply a superior product but a superior set of services as well. With the goal of a successful turnkey solution with every opportunity and the experience of multiple installations around the region we aim to make GPE LLC your preferred partner for the following services whether with our range or a competitors range.

Our UAE head office and local partner network are ideally located to support your local demands and can be engaged from initial air study, to consulting on machine vs application including the diagnostics and air demand calculations.

Our service team are principle approved and are also able to support service demands on competitor equipment. We stock a full range of genuine spare parts and can also source competitor parts to complete 3rd party repairs.

SERVICES CONTINUED

In House Service and Maintenance

With a highly skilled team of regionally experienced engineers and technicians GPE LLC offer an efficient and cost effective service centre with modern facilities and systems to ensure a prompt turnaround on any service related warranty or repairs for the products we represent and support. We also offer services on competitor items across the same range of products with access to OEM spares and also additional guarantees upon completion of any service work carried out.

On site services

Our mobile team of engineers and technicians are available on a daily basis and 7 days a week to support onsite problems and ensure minimum disruption for any unexpected machine and equipment issues. We cover the full UAE and can also respond to regional issues on request.

Product Training and Site Support

Each and every service engineer and technician is fully trained and principal certified on the products we offer, supply and support. We can offer similar training on site to ensure your operators and team are fully aware of the most effective and efficient operation of the equipment ensuring minimal downtime and longterm value on equipment purchase. Training days can also be arranged at the main operational base with certificates awarded at the end of either site or other trainings.
